Dear Leon:

I have written Waggoner Carr in accordance with our conversation and hope to be able to have galley proof for him to examine this next week. The Commission is sorry about the publications of some of the materials that have gotten into magazines and newspapers, but that has been entirely beyond the control of the Commission and its staff which were not the sources of information.

As you know the transcript of the Ruby deposition was available to counsel for Ruby as well as for the counsel for the State and we had no control over that.

Although I know that you are correct that you were not one of the counsel despite the statement in the foreword by Dorothy Kilgallen, I assume that is another of the inaccuracies that creep in when testimony is handled in that manner.

With best wishes and kindest regards, I am

Sincerely,

SIGNED
